MEMORANDUM FOR: National Foreign Intelligence Board

SUBJECT: Call for MASINT Committee Members

1. With the appointment of [redacted] as Chairman, MASINT, and the Board's concurrence with the MASINT DCID, we are now prepared to implement the new Committee's responsibilities. Accordingly, I request the selection of your representatives, principal and alternate, to the Committee, as soon as reasonably possible. These representatives should be at a senior level. (S)

2. One of the most important challenges which the new Committee will face is to recognize significant MASINT management and requirements issues and then promptly bring to the DCI's attention a collective resolve. In order to do that judicially and effectively, I am convinced that we need to draw upon senior management representatives to help formulate and guide MASINT's judgments. Your agencies' support will be crucial in getting MASINT off to a fast, sound start. (C)

RECOMMENDATIONS FOR COMMITTEE MEMBERSHIP

DISCUSSION

The D/ICS and the Chairman, MASINT share the view that with MASINT in its formative stage, it is important that we build the membership from technically experienced senior managers. Realistically, however, with the diversity of technical disciplines embodied in MASINT, there is unfortunately a limited pool to draw from, particularly in the case of some agencies. (C)

Given this situation, we would, on balance, opt for senior agency managers at the Committee level and concentrate on technical expertise at the Subcommittee/Working Group level. The rationale for senior representation at the Committee level is threefold: (1) we can expect, and probably get, better access to the respective NFIB principals; this access becomes particularly crucial as MASINT related key issues (for example, SDI, ONIR, Arms Control) are worked and staffed for the DCI, DDCI, and the Board; (2) senior status within an agency should put the member in a stronger position to internally coordinate his/her respective agency's position and help measurably in garnishing needed resource support from the Community; (3) senior-level representation projects more clearly to the user Community and to Congress the measure of commitment and importance given to this vital area of intelligence collection by the DCI. (S)

Given the above rationale, and recognizing that in the final analysis the agency or department head makes the selection, the D/ICS will send the attached letter to the NFIB principals. (C)

In order to do that judicially and effectively, I am convinced we need to draw upon senior management representatives to help formulate and guide MASINT's judgments. I can understand the organizational and individual impact when we draw upon senior managers. Notwithstanding, I hope each of you share my view that your agencies' support will be crucial in getting MASINT off to a fast, sound start. (C)

3. Finally, as NFIB, I ask your support in ensuring that the new Chairman receives the advice and counsel of the principals. Therefore, I have asked Ron to schedule a courtesy visit with each of you to gain the benefit of your views and to share his views with respect to this important and expanding area of intelligence collection, processing, and reporting. 25X1

2. Background: As you know, you requested the CIPC to examine the desirability of establishing a DCI MASINT Committee following the 18-month existence of the MASINT Subcommittee of the SIGINT Committee. With full Community support, the CIPC recommended that MASINT as a discipline does merit the establishment of such a Committee, and you, in fact, approved this on 12 February 1986 (see attached). We have interviewed a number of candidates and have selected [redacted] Director of Systems and Technology, International Security Affairs, Department of Energy, as a highly qualified candidate for this position. The DDCI has concurred with this nomination. (S)
